His Manager Posts a Big Sum to Bind Match.

Terry Does Not Lose the Featherweight Championship by Reason of His Defeat Last Thursday.

New York, Nov. 30,-In sporting circles here nothing was talked of more than the defeat of Terry McGovern by Young Corbett in Hartford. That Me-Govern was beaten by a two-handed rushing fighter like himself was conceded by everybody, but McGovern's friends are evidently of the opinion that should the boys meet again Mc-Govern will retrieve his lost laureis. Sam Harris, McGovern's manager, posted $2,500 to blud another match the time and place to be at the will of Young Corbett. Harris said: "In order to get a return match with Young the contrary, there is good reason to Corbett, Terry will agree to knock him out before the limit of 20 or 25 rounds is reached, or forfeit the entire purse. I am positive that McGovern did not show his true form in this contest and I am willing to accept the proposition of James C. Kennedy of San Francisco, who has offered a purse of $10,000 for the men to mest again in his club.

"I notice that it has been published that Corbett has won the featherweight championship, but this is not true. McGovern defeated George Dixon for the title of featherweight champion, the limit for which is 122 pounds and when Terry won it he only turned the scales at 118, and he is now ready Detroit, Nov. 30 .- Thomas E. The Czar in Republican Politics.

Turning Down of Fx-Congressman Weaver by the President, Cited as an Evidence That Mark Has No Federal Patronage at His Disposal - Affairs in Political Circles.

Columbus, O., Nov., 30-Indications are multiplying tending to show that the coming session of the Ohio legislature will mark the beginning of the end of Senator Hanna's supremacy in Buckeye politics. It will not see Hanna wholly unhorsed, because he still has a mortgage on the state administration that will not expire until two years from next January, but it is practically established that he will not dominate legislation as heretofore and will have no federal patronage at his disposal with which to threaten and browbeat those whose support he influence is begining to be felt in the contest for the offices to be distributed upon the organization of the house and senate. Under other circumstances han those now prevalling, no Republican would dare to set himself up as a target for the Hanna men's enposition and the mere word of the boss that a certain state had been agreed upon would be sufficient to insure its election without aubible protests, however sore the other follows might feel inwardly. Now, however. Hanna is even too cautious to permit his candidates to announce themselves as such. It they win it will be partially under cover. It is also noticable that no candidates are yearning to be officially tagged as Hanna candidates this year. They are as careful to avoid the stamp of Hannaism now as they formerly were to display it. When such a revelation occurs in Ohio pelities, it is not difficult to determine what it means,

Already the weakening of the Hanna

This unusual state of affairs is Uncle Mark is a "back number" at Washington. As the latest evidences of this fact former Hannaites are now citing President Roosevelt's recencontemptuous treatment of ex-Concressman Walter Weaver, of Springfield, in the matter of the latter's candidacy for the Columbus pension agency. It is known positively that Mr. is a candidate. Weaver had the unqualified indorsement of Senator Hanna, and not only was this so, but Hanna is reported to have personally urged the appointment upon President Roosevelt and to have insisted that it be made before election day. President Roosevelt absolutely declined to make the appointment at the time or at any time. His refusal was not based upon any desire, it is said, to retain General Jones. On believe that the present incumbent will not serve out his term, which expires next August, but will be decapitated early in January. President Roosevelt's refusal is said to have been based on the fact the Senator Foraker not only had not indorsed Weaver, but had vigorously objected to his appointment. Senator Foraker's objections are well known. and undoubtedly were mainly because of the enmity between Weaver and ex Govenor Bushnell. When Bushnell was opposing Hanna's election to the senate, Weaver appeared in town at the head of a Springfield delegation which marched into the governoroffice and demanded that he support Hanna, Bushnell resented the in vigorous language, and said his Republicanism had never before been questioned. Mr. Hanna is now reaping the fruit of this incident, which

There will be no compromise beween the Republican candidates for the leading positions in the senate and house organizations and no withdrawal of candidates already announced. This is due to the new conditions arising from the passing of Hanna. The several candidates will stick and the chances of success appear to be really as favorable to one as to another. For speaker of the house Representative McKinnon of Ashtabula is in the fight to stay and is at least strong enought to prevent the result The same thing is true as between Senators Archer and Patterson, candidates for President pro. tem. of the secate, and, indeed, in regard to all the other contests. The state treasury is likely to profit to the extent of $500 by the failure of Treasurer William F. Burdell, of the Republican state executive committee, to comply with the law providing that an accounting of campaign expenses shall be filed with the secretary of state within 20 days after each election. This is the same Burdell who exhibits his contempt of the civil service laws every two years by sending begging letters to federal office holders in all parts of the country, demanding contributions to Ohio cam-

Warships to Be Withdrawn,

Washington, Nov. 30.-With the restoration of order and open traffic on the isthmus of Panama it is expected that the navy department will be able to withdraw some of the United States warships now on duty in that quarter, and it is probable that one ship will be withdrawn on either side of the isthmus. There will be no haste, however, in reducing the naval strength, as the officials feel that the surrender of the Liberals on the lathmus may not terminate the entire struggle throughout Colombia. Operators Refused to Attend [Conevention Held by Miners of the Mine Workers' Union at Huntington.

Mitchell and Secretary Wilson of the United Mine Workers returned from the miners' convention at Huntington W. Val. held for the purpose of confer ring with the coal operators of Virginia and West Virginia to establish a new wage scale. The operators, however, refused to attend the convention The miners extended the operators an invitation to attend the joint conven tion of operators and miners of the central competitive coal fields, to be beld in this city Jan. 20, for the purpose of determining the wages and conditions of employment that should obtain for the year beginning next April. Mr. Mitchell stated that there was no likelihood of a strike being declared in those states at present.

This will insure a good magnates of this truly magnetic organization. Indeed it is doubtful of a real white-faced aggregation of commedians, singers, dancors and speciaity artists exist anywhere on the American circuit today which contains so many clever people as are here in evidence. With Williams and Walker to set the pace, however, the rest of the company are bound to furnish the livliest kind of fun.

A realistic picture of life in the far west will be the offering of the Faurot on Monday night, under the title of "The Flaming Arrow," presenting the only Indian actress in the world, Go Wen Go Mohawk, as the star. The play is not as might naturally be expected, a blood and thunder production abounding in gun shots and other things, unpleasant to an audlence, but is a faithful picture of life on the the truth? Think of it the next time frontier and in one of the famous government posts. It tells a beautiful love story, is replete with thrilling scenes, and its characters are an taken from living phototypes, true in and Tar in my family and think it is character and costume. On Tuesday evening "The Princess Bonnie," Willard Spencer's beautiful opera will be sung. The entertainment is given under the auspices of the board of lady managers of the Lima Hospital, and is under the direction of Mr. Walton E. Clark and Mr. Geo. P. Lull.

The cast is composed of the pick of lima's amateurs and the chorus is ex ceptionally strong. The entire opera house orchestra will play and the opera will be handsomely costumed.

J. C. Lewis and his big company of comedians will appear at the Faurot omedy brim full of funny situations and laughable novelties. This season the comedy has been entirely rewritten by the well known author. Robt G. Morris, and appears in its new edition, and the band and orchestra carried by this company will be held up to its standard as the finest musical organization on the read, under the direction of the famous Frof. "Arizona" needs but the simple an iouncement of the date to fill the theatre. Every one in Lima who witnessed its memorable production here last year has been acting as a volunteer press agent ever since, and its engagement for next Thursday night will doubtless bring forth one of the largest and most fashionable audiences ever gathered in Faurot's opera house. It need only be added that Mr. Thomas' famous play will re-I celve the same careful production in the way of east, scenery and accessories that marked its engagement inst season.

"In the Rockies" with its picturesque scenery, its pleasing love story and its generous supply of humor will begin an engagement at the Faurot next Saturday afternoon. "In the Rockies" is an American play, and is remarkably well constructed and exciting, with interesting and thrilling incidents, a series of love stories, sublime pathetic episodes and heroic rescues. It is a model of bright dialogue. Williams and Walker and their big of perfect stage-craft, of remarkable emotion and the best of comedy, al climaxes of cheering forcefulness.

It has been cynically said that anything can be sold by advertising now a-days. This is not so. Many liniments have been advertised but only one-Perry Davis' Painkiller-has stood the test of sixty years' use. Today its popularity is greater than ever and is based not upon what anybody says but upon what the remedy does. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis.

How aptly Shakespeare touches the dominant chord in a woman's nature. She suffers in silence; draws a curtain over her private sorrows, and endures until endurance ceases to be a virtue. This is especially the case with the modest minded women who suffer from diseases peculiar to the sex. They are miserable and unhappy, and yet, although they know that they need medical aid and assistance, they choose rather to bear the ills they know than to submit sician. For this reason many a woman lets disease fasten upon her. She conceals her condition and endures a daily martyrdom of pain because her mind revolts at the thought of submission to the treatment she knows the local practitioner will insist upon. Very many women have written grateful letters to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., because they have found in his methods an escape from the offensive questions, the obnoxious examinations. and the disagreeable local treatments insisted on by so many home physicians. These things are, as a rule, not necessary. Dr. Pierce's experience and success in treating hundreds of thousands of women, enables him at once to determine from the written statements of women the form of disease which it is necessary to treat. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. correspondence is sacredly confidential and the same strict professional privacy guards the written confidences of women as is observed by Dr. Pierce and his staff in personal consultations with women at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

A WOMAN'S STATEMENT. "I enjoy good health, thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery, Mrs. J. J. Schnetver, of Pontiac, Living-ston Co., Ill. "Have taken six bottles of each kind. I was taken sick last February and the doctors here called it 'Grip.' I lay for four weeks in bed, then when I got up I found I had 'Displacement.' Had such aches and pains in my back and limbs could not stand any length of time. I knew that our submit to, unless I was dangerously sick, and then it would be too late to do any good. My son had your book, Common Sense Medical Adviser, and I thought from reading it that Dr. Pierce's medi-cine would do me more good than all the home doctors—and so it has. If any one had told me it would do me so much good I would have said, 'Oh no, not that much good.' I can truly say that I was surprised at the benefit I received. I can do all my washing and also tend my flower garden. In fact I am on my feet most all the time. An old friend of mine said to me, 'Why, what is the matter with you? You are getting young again.' I told her I had taken six bottles Dr. Pierce's medicines, and if she would do likewise she would feel ten years younger, too."

However wonderful it may seem, that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is uniformly successful in curing diseases peculiar to women, it is not so wonderappears. It is not wonderful to us, that a machine made to perform a certain task accomplishes it perfectly. We do not wonder at the engine which pulls the train of cars, aithough we know nothing of mechanics. We know the engine was made to do this thing. We do not wonder at a musical artist like Paderewski who sits at the in-strument and produces perfect harmony. know that constant practice enables his perfect command of the keyenced player sit down to the piano, and the same keys falsely touched jar into discord. It is so with Dr. Pierce in his experience and practice of medicine. "Favorite Prescription" only does what it was made to do. ailments is the difference between skill, and success on the one hand and a casual experience on the other.

GAINED TEN POUNDS.

"I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and two of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and re-ceived great benefit," writes Mrs. Elmer D. Sheare, of Mounthope, Lancaster Co., Pa. "I do not have those sick spells as formerly. Before I took your medicine I could hardly walk at times, when I had uterine trouble. I can truly say that after taking four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I did not suffer any more. I gained ten pounds in weight. In June I commenced using the medicine so you may know that I did not feel very bad."

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite, and induces refreshing As a tonic for weak, worn-out, run-down women it is unequaled. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." The only motive for sub-stitution is to enable the dealer to make the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorions medicines.

There has probably never been a Thanksgiving Day celebrated since when the feeling of thankfulness was so heartily and gratefully expressed.

To Send Engines to Ohio.

State Law

Prohibiting Their Use in Pennsylvania.

Double Cab Which Separates the Engineer and His Fireman.

Great Speed Being Made by the New High Class Passenger Engines Now in Use on the Pennsylvania.

Three of the E-I passenger engines, nown to the railroad men as "Mother-Hubbards," built at the Altoona shops for service on the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburg, are to be transferred to this division of the Fort Wayne road. The Pennsylvania state officials have put a ban upon these engines and they are prohibited from running on the railways of the Keystone state. The objection to the engine is because of the arrangement of the cab and the separation while in service of the engineer and fireman. The engineer's cab is on top and in the middle of the boiler, while the fire man's cab is in the rear, fifteen feet from the throttle manipulator. This arrangement deprives the engineer of the fireman's assistance in looking for signals and several accidents have been traced to this cause. A few months ago the engineer on one of the "Mother Hubbard" engines died and the train ran thirty miles, or about that distance, before the fireman or other members of the train crew made the discovery. The E-l engine was built with a view to great speed and in that respect is equal to the E-2 engines in service on this end the road. They have 80-inch drivers, weigh 173,450 pounds, have 353 flues and carry 185 pounds of steam to the square inch. The E-2 engines have 80 inch drivers, weigh 176,-600 pounds, have 315 fines and carry 205 pounds of steam pressure. No. $40, the first of the E-1 engines to arrive here, is in the round house today

77 Miles an Heur, There is apparently no limit to the speed of the new E-2 passenger endo a "stunt" in the speed line that a short time ago would have been considered phenomenal. Wednesday General Western and Division Freight Agent Borner, Superintendent J. B McKim and some of the other officials made a trip over Division C on a special train, hauled by engine 178 of this class. En route east the superintendents of the Hocking Valley and the Toledo and Ohio Central roads joined the party and the engineer was given permission to show the visitors what an E-2 could do. J C. Pearson was at the throttle and ifter passing Forest he let her out, covering the thirteen miles between that city and Upper Sandusky at the rate of seventy-seven miles per hour The visiting superintendents were surn which the train annihilated space Firemen J. Remarkable Performance of Submarine Boat Fulton.

NO AIR SUPPLIED FROM OUTSIDE.

Six Men, Hermetically Scaled in, Ate Slept. Talked, Road and Played Cards In Comfort While Submerged Fifteen Hours at Bottom of Long Island Sound as a Storm Raked Overhood

Up from the depths of Long Island sound a boar that looked like a whale rose the other day while the storm was at its height. When the ship rested upon the bosom of the waters in which it had been buried many hours, the conning tower was thrown open, and a man srepped forth and looked around in astonishment at the wildness of the clements.

"Well," said he to a little knot of weary faced watchers on shore who had spent the night with their eyes gived to the spot where the vessel had sunk from sight the evening before, "I hadn't expected to see anything like

The man was Captain Frank Cable, navigator of the Holland submarine torpedo boat Fulton, and be, with five other daring souls, had just spent fifteen hours at the bottom of the sound, with so much water above them that ther did not know that a fierce storm had raged so many hours, says the New York World. The six adventurers had come back to the surface after participating in a test that has no parallel in history and one of worldwide

The Fulton had not been connected with the surface or with the shore by even so much as a wire throughout the test. Not a foot of air had been sent to the six men within her, and yet when they walked out of her at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and greeted those who waited for them on the wharf of the Crescent company's shipyard at New Suffolk, N. Y., they were as bright eyed, hearty and cheerful as if they had just finished a good breakfast at home. They had had a night of fine, wholesome sleep underneath the water. Before any of them went to bed they whiled away the hours with cards. with the magazines and with a substantial luncheon. Then four of them lay down in white clothed beds and slept undisturbed, while above the calm of their submerged home the wind howled and shricked and the great waves rolled and towered and broke on the shore with a mighty roar. The men in the wonderful craft wishing to make Thomksgiving Pay heard nothing of this. The two who

The work done by the foreign submarine boats, the French and English ones, was discussed. Of course the Holland was ahead of them all in our estimation.

"This test exceeds anything accomplished by the other bonts. It is some thing never accomplished in the world before. We need not have come up as soon as we did, but the fifteen hours were over. I believe with the twelve flasks we could have stayed down three months.

"Our motor will carry us 140 miles, so it would be possible to go right from New Suffolk to New York city and travel the entire distance under water, coming to the surface only occasionally to take an observation. We could do this using our electricity economically. The motor is of seventy borsepower. Our 140 borsepower gas engine would carry us still farther.

It had been declared against the Holland submarize boats that, while of course they could go under water, they could not stay submerged any length of dence is unknown, will take notice time with safety to their crews. Experts in the United States pavy bitterly opposed the adoption of the boats for tighting purposes, declaring that they were mere toys, Mr. Holland, the inder the water and let it stay there until the critics were robbed of their ammunition.

So the present test was arranged. A large number of persons congregated at the Crescent shippards to witness it of Lima, Ohio, to said plaintiffs on Some of them thought they were to see lot No. four thousand five hundred and several footbardy men go to their death. The observation of the test was I tion to the city of Lima, Ohio, given to to be made officially by Lawrence Spear, superintendent of United States naval construction, who is on duty at the yards watching the building of several of the Holland boats. When bedding and provisions had been put on board the Fulton and all had been made tidy below for the adventurers, Mr. Spear gave the signal to begin the test. At 7:30 p. m. the investigators and crew went aboard. They were Rear Admiral John Lowe, U. S. A., retired; Lieutevant Arthur MacArthur, son of General MacArthur and commander of the tornedo boat Winslow, now lying at the Crescent wharf, who is to command the submathe host Adder under way: Captala Cable, chief navigates for the Holland company; John Wilson, machinist; John Saunders, engineer, and H. Morrell, electrician.

The copping tower cover was clo over them, and in a moment the Fulton was seen to be settling in the water. A fresh easterly breeze and falling raindrops gave promise of a coming storm. Swung high over the settling boat was an are light which brilliantly illuminated the scene for those on the wharf.

Soon the Fulton had disappeared from view, but out from the dark was ters came the glimmer of her lights seen through her glass portholes. It was then low tide, and as the storm came up and became wild and the sea broke over the spot where the vessel had sunk the edge of the conning tower was seen to be awash as a gull opened in the angry waters. Soon the tide rose, and, although the sea became rougher and the gulfs yawned deeper, nothing could be seen of the Fulton. She was down so far that the alliamer of her lights was no longer perceptible.

A measurement showed that the bont was six feet under water, and at this depth she remained until the test was finished. A code of signals, to be delivered by rapping on the sides of the sieel host, had been arranged, but the signals, though made, were not heard.

Each Member.

A LONG FALT WANT SUPPLIED.

Entire Administration Council Presented With Second Pair of Braces by an Enterprising Ontfitter. Formal Letters of Acceptance Received From Secretaries Hitchcock, Wilson, Long and Others.

How the cabinet members of the administration were completely equipped and "fitted out" each with brand new suspenders is a story worth the telling. That all classes and conditions of men might a tale unfold of unfulfilled ambitions that years and years slumbered secretly in their bosons may pass as an assertion that challenges contradiction. The poor have their dreams of something better in life, and it seems the rich have theirs of unrealized alms and ungratified comforts. Yet it may, after all, rise to the position of a real downright revelation to be told that comparatively few men, no matter how exalted their station-if indeed any men, great or humble-go through life with more than one set of suspenders. This is the startling substance of the disclosure recently made in high officlai circles which led an enterprising read in Effect Fov. 5rd, 1901.

> One erening offer a cablant dinner some time ago the conversation chanced to turn upon the routhful ambitions of the members. Each related his early plans for the future, and when Secretary Wilson's turn came the genial Inwan said: "My ambition has not yet been resided. I wanted to parison has not yet been resined. I wanted to he worth a million dollars and have two good pairs of suspenders at the same lime. As yet I have reither." The earliest unofficially laughed at this frank confession, and Secretary Cage, after a minute, confessed that he had never simultaneously possessed two pairs of dependable suspenders. Secretary Long temarked that when he traduated from Havent he but two pairs of the graduated from Harvard he had two pairs of new trousers, each with good new "galines," but that the experience had never responded to an encore, while the now Justice lickenna said that, although he came from the Pacific slope, two pairs of "holdups" were unknown to him all in the same day or night. P. S.—I am adding this posterriat on my own responsibility and without the authorization of the secretary, but which I think will prove of interest to you. At a cabinet meeting at the White House on Friday, the 25th inst., one of the members in a humorous way mentioned the sus-pender subject by producing the clipping you sent him. This brought out the fact that all the cabinct had been the recipients of your generosity in the way of suspenders. Some of the members began joking Secretory Long, assuming the story as marrated in your clipping was literally true, and they had a great deal of fun before they got through with him. The occasion afforded much merriment and smutement to all the cabinet, as well as to President Percentage and these well as to President Roosevelt, and your aupenders for a time overshadowed national matters

HALL CAINE AS A CRITIC

Much Interested In James Creelman's New Book.

TWO SUBJECTS APPEAL TO HIM.

About the Pope-"Henevolent Despotism" and Democracy-Disagrees With Tolstel's Views on Marriage as Reported by Creelman.

Hall Caine has written the following interesting letter, which a friend of his recently sent to the New York World. on socialism, religion and marriage apropos of James Creelman's new book, "On the Great Highway:"

GREEDA CASTLE, Isle of Man. Nov. 2. I have read with a great deal of pleasure James Creekman's stirring book, "On the Great High-way." Two at least of the subjects he deals with are of great interest to me. The first is the popular and his views on social questions. The picture Mr. Creekman presents of his visit to the Vatican tic of the speeches of its great bead.

I confess that with all my reverence for Pope Leo XIII, as a Christian statesman I full to realize Lee XIII. as a Christian statesman I foil to realize the definite message conveyed in the words Mr. Creelman has given. As in the encyclicals, so here, the church by its henored monthpiece tells the world that it must cultivate religion, be obedient to its bishops and bow the knee to the authority of the pope. Such is effect is the world of life which the church gives to a sick world through the month of its sovereign pontiff, and it leaves undisturbed the great inequalities of rich and poor, which are the manifest causes of the new man of me. I feel young as I did at thirty and poer, which are the manifest causes of the world's unrest. Perhaps it is too much to expect the boly father to be more definite. Ills obligations are too many; the claims upon him are too prossing. Perhaps, if one may say so without of-lense, his own position is too perilous.

For my own poor part, having none of these re-sponsibilities, I do not hersite to say plainly that the only selution I see of the grievous social and economic problems that weight on the world at present lies in the direction of the triumph of democracy; but this means the dewnfall of all forms of errogated archericans. forms of arregated authority, even when they come in the guise of a benerolent despotian haring its only logical reat on the temporal throne of the completion. of the sovereign peatiff,

The second of the two subjects which most in-terest me in Mr. Creelman's suggestive tank is Talstei and his views of marriage and the social ember, 1901, to points in the WestSouthwest and South.

This at all events is no uncertain note, and if we may take it in relation to Mr. Creciman's conversation it is strangely wanting in the quality of legic. Mr. Creelman presents Tolstoi as saying that the physical impulses in marriage, like the appetite of bunger, are the expression of a low of nature and therefore neither good nor

Again Mr. Creelman describes Talston as raying, contrary to an essential tenet of Christianity, that human facture at its root is good. Now, it human nature is good and the impulses in marriage are of nature, how comes it that marriage is "a sin demanding redemption?"

Tolstoi's views on the social order, as revealed W. J. Shively, Batesville, O., speaking of Banner Salve, says: "I used it for piles, and it has done me more for piles, and it has done me more grow grain to make his own bread. At the same time he admits that the developments of modern civilization, with railways, bridges, ships, telegraphs, the press, universities and all other machinery of social life which has been built up throughout the ages are hastening the day when humanity will be one great family and the Christian law of love and brotherbood will present

Here, surely, is an absolute contradiction. If every man had spent some portion of his time in tilling the earth for his own maintenance, the brotherhood could not have come to pass.

My conclusion (which I advance with all humility against the authority of Tolstol's great name) is that the laws of nature, whether in the relations of the seaso or the relations of the classes, are working out the will of God. INCIDENTS OF THE STORM.

Sallor Veered a Torpedo From Schooner at Risk of His Life.

Charles Bergh, boatswain of the submarine torpedo boat Fulton, performed a mest remarkable feat of during at New Suffolk, Long Island, during the recent big storm. It was shortly after he left the Fulton, after being under water all night, says the New York Tribune. A flerce gale was raging, and the tide was so high that there was three feet of water in the streets of New Suffolk. Three large sloops had been driven ashore before the rale, and the crowd of spectators on the Holland Torpedo Boat company's wharf noticed what appeared to be a large pile driving toward the G. B. Bransford. Sr., one of the sloops that were ashore.

The Fulton's crew recognized that the drifting object was a Whitehead torpedo dummy, weighing $40 pounds. They saw it when it was less than fity feet from the sloop, which it would have completely wrecked.

Various schemes were suggested to is admirably faithful to the samesphere of the great house as I know it, and the version be gives of the pope's views is not only true to the spirit of the hory father's published encyclicals, but he has caught with quite extraordinary fidelity the tone and manner that are neculiar to the Vatican utterances and especially characteristic of the speeches of its creat head. in time to prevent it from striking the Bransford. He steered if safely ashore, where it was hauled from the water. It had been floated from the wharf by the high tide. Bergh has followed the water for years and modestly refused to accept any remuneration for what he had done. Shortly afterward a sailor on the torpede boat Winslow. which is on duty at the Holland station, carried a line through the water to moor his boat more scenrely. He had to be hauled aboard by his mates, who threw a line around his waist.

No trains reached Scabright, N. J., on the day of the storm, and none may for several days. The south track is washed away for a quarter of a mile, and south of Seabright 1,500 feet of the roadbed is either washed away or buried under the sands washed up by the great breakers that rolled in during the night. A new inlet from the occan to the Shrewsbury river has formed near Navesink, and an examination of it indicates that it is deep enough for the river steamers. The piers of a number of wealthy New York cottagers were swept away, and fifteen fishermen's boats were wrecked

SWINEURNE'S CRITICISMS.

English Poet's Comments or Methods of the Roer War.

Concentration camps and the mor tality rates thereof cause a good deal of worriment to most Englishmen, even to those who believe in imperialism and look upon its means and incidents as necessary and therefore justifiable but the most thoroughgoing of British jingoes may well be affrighted by a poem in which Algerton Charles Swipburne commemorates the death of Colo nel Benson, says the New York Times After referring to Northumberland's sorrow and pride in the loss of such a son the poet continues:

Nor heed we more than he what liars dare say Of mercy's holiest duties left undene Toward whelps and dams of murderous face, whom none Save we had spared or feared to starve and slay. This, which appears in the London Saturday Review, is enough to make timid poets like Kipling open their eyes in astonishment but it does not content Mr. Swinburne, who proceeds to smooth down the feathers ruffled by Mr. Chamberlain's recent snave references to a neighbor's methods of warfare as follows:

Alone as Milton and as Wordsworth found Rowled all the recreant hate of envious knaves, Sublime she stands, while, stiffed in the sound, Each lie that fails from German boors and slaves Falls but as filth dropt in the wandering waves.

MARKHAM ON THE FUTURE:

Noted Poet Thinks It Will Solve Problem of Capital and Labor. The Society For the Study of Life beld its annual dinner recently at the Tuxedo in New York, Mrs. Almon Honsley, the president, presiding. There were about 130 diners. Edwin Markbam spoke on "What There Is In America For the Poet."

"The poet who is worth while is one who has something to do with the larger movements of humanity, is a prophet and a seer," he said. "We need a new ideal for the poetic and literary life, and I believe that the social and industrial movement at the presenttime presents a higher theme than the poets have yet dealt with. I believe that we are coming to a new conception of religion that will be the application of the Golden Rule. We need not men to make money, but money to make men. We lack a great past, but we have a spacious future. America has been reserved to these later ages for some great manifestation, Something seems destined to come out of this great experiment of democracy. and I believe it will be in the solving of the problem of the struggle of capital and labor and that we will solve the problem of industrial freedom."

To Make Frenchwomen Read. The editor of La Fronde is not satisfied with the progress of education among French provincial women. She thinks they do not read enough and proposes to get at them through the medium of the theater, says the Chicago Record-Herald. She has organized a troupe of good players equipped with a set of double bills. The first one is always of proved merit and fame. The second of the evening is a new piece of genuine morit, but of evident educative purposes, since its theme is always some phase of the woman question. Between the two plays a fifteen or twenty minute lecture on the all Important topic is given. If the women desire to see the play, they must hear

AN OPEN LETTER

Addressed to Women by the Treasurer of the W.C.T.U. of Kansas City, Mrs. E. C. Smith.

"My DEAR SISTERS: -- I believe in advocating and upholding everything that will lift up and help women, and but little use appears all knowledge and learning if you have not the health to enjoy it.

"Having found by personal experience that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine of rare virtue, and having seen dozens of cures where my suffering sisters have been dragged back to life and usefulness from an untimely grave simply by the use of a few bottles of that Compound, I must proclaim its virtues, or I should not be doing my duty to suffering mothers and dragged-out housekeepers.

"Dear Sister, is your health poor, do you feel worn out and used up, especially do you have any of the troubles which beset our sex, take my advice; let the doctors alone, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it is better than any and all doctors, for it cures and they do not."—Mrs. E. C. Smith, 1212 Oak St., Treasurer W. C. T. U., Kan-

MRS. E. C. SMITH.

What is left for the women of America after reading such a letter as the above, but to believe. Bon't some of you who are sick and miserable feel how wicked you are to remain so, making life a burden for yourself and your friends when a cure is easily and inexpensively obtained? Don't you think it would pay to drop some of your old prejudices as Mrs. Smith says, and "Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is better than all the doctors for cures?" Surely, the experience of hundreds of thousands of women whom the Compound has cured should convince all women of the wisdom of taking the advice that Mrs. Smith offers in her letter when relative dom of taking the advice that Mrs. Smith offers in her letter above published.

Read What Ars. Burnham says:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham: —Words fail to express how thankful I am to you for your advice, and I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was sick for three years with female weakness; I had dizzy spells, headache, backache, feet and hands were cold all the time, would not him to the control of the would get tired and faint very easy. I also had dropsy and was troubled with leucorrinea. I suffered for two weeks before each menstrual period and my ovaries would swell very badly. I took lots of medicines from doctors, but received no benefit. To please my husband I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now a well woman, and your Compound alone did it. Mass. H. W. Burnham, Russell, Mich. (Jan. 31, 1901).

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Moral—Stick to the medicine that you know is Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

REW ARD. — We have deposited with the National City Pank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission.

Told by Pain

If you have pains you should look after them quickly. Pain shows something is wrong. The sharper the pain the more denger there is in delay. There are thousands of women to-day who are bearing awful pain almost continually, rather than tell a physician about the shooting pains in their lower absorption about the shooting pains in their wer abcomen, about the agony of falling of the womb and the distress of leucorrhoea. They let the months pass and their trouble becomes harder to cure and more distressing. But modest women can secure exemption from the embarrassment of a private examination. When pain tells them of danger they can cure themselves by the use of cuted without distressing publicity. With these facts before you there is no reason for the delay which is increasing your misery and wasting the days of your life. Why not stop the pain today?

I have used one bottle of Wine of Cardul and one package of Thedford's Black-Draught. Before I began to take your medicines I had pains in the back hips, lower bowels and my arms. Sometimes I thought I would go blind. My head ached and I was so weak I could hardly walk across the ficer. Now I can only feel a little of the pain in my side and I am going to use your medicines until I gat cured, for I believe they will certainly cure me. I have been married twelve years and am the mother of seven children. I thank you for your wenderful medicine and what it has done for me. MATILDA SMITH tertained at dinner, Mr. Herbert in a Hotly Contested Game Played Yesterday.

> The Bluffton Team Outweighed the Local Team But Lacked the Team Work and Skill Necessary to Win.

The Lima high school foot ball tear won in a game against Bluffion yes terday by a score of 38 to 0. When the ball was kicked off and the teams lined up the first time, it was clearly seen that Bluffton was no match for the Lima boys. Bluffton outweighed Lima, their weight averaging 137 to Lima's 131, but what they gained in weight, they lacked in skill. Bluffton has played but three games and considering their practice and number of games played, their work vas good. especially in the second half, when they took a wonderful brace. While at no time the ball was in Lima territory, and they saw defeat staring them in the face, yet they played with The Twentieth Century club will the determination of doing their best and never was discouraged.

The feature of the game was the end runs of Potter. Beeman, Laudick and Klumph.

The defense was perfect and the line held well.
